

ABSTRACT

FACTOR ANALYSIS OF HOUSEWIFE'S BASIC NEED FULFILLMENT WITH HIV/AIDS BASED ON BASIC NEED FULFILLMENT THEORY AND TRANSCULTURAL NURSING IN KEDIRI

By: Binar Wahyuning Widhi

Introduction: Increasing amount of People Living With HIV/AIDS in Indonesia made raising demand for nursing care in HIV/AIDS. Meanwhile the reached of basic need fulfillment especially housewife in Kediri at February 2015 is about 50-60% from 100% of basic need that have to fulfill.

Methods : Design used is explanatory with cross sectional. The aim of this study are to analyze correlation or effect among religious and philosophical factor, families bonding and social factor, cultural values and lifestyle factor, economic factor and educational factor to basic need fulfillment of housewife in Kediri. The sample used are 20 people. Data collection from questioner.

Result and Analysis: Result showed from Spearman correlation, religious and philosophical ($p = 0,001$), factor, families bonding and social factor ($p = 0,004$), cultural values and lifestyle factor ($p = 0,006$) , economic factor ($p = 0,006$), educational factor ($p = 0,343$).

Discussion and Conclusion: Factor correlate significantly to need fulfillment based on transcultural nursing theory are religious and philosophical factor, families bonding and social factor, cultural values and lifestyle factor and economic factor. Factor have strong correlation to basic need fulfillment housewife with HIV/AIDS are religious and philosophical factor, families bonding and social factor. Based on this result, it is important for professional health care and community to support program endeavoring family, continue stigma's abolition program and increasing the spirituality support.

Keywords: Housewife, HIV/AIDS, basic need theory, Transcultural Nursing theory